

Area Umbrella Schools

The majority of home educators in this area choose to register with a Church Related School (private school) umbrella program. These programs are most often administered by veteran home educators who understand the flexible nature of home education methods and schedules, and can offer advice that is tried and true. Choosing an umbrella is more complex than just registering with the program closest to where you live. Since you will be visiting the campus only one or two times a year, driving distance should not necessarily be your primary concern. Umbrella schools and their administrators have different personalities and programs. It is best to call several different schools and talk with their home school administrator to see if they are a good match for your personality and academic needs. The umbrella schools listed below work with SMHEA to promote home education in our area.
